My experience

What has shaped my thinking which is:

1. - attack on Iran is more than possible, despite its foreseeable dangers/costs, inc. catastrophe and despite unl. ~~reception~~, opposition

2. New threats are being made.

3. New attack is very possible.

Salmon of does

4. Mil. + civ. opponents very least overall but most will go along reluctantly

(told much later!)

(Jhy should not/sacrifice career, leave marriage does, now)

5. Jhy will consider resigning - but will if?
with does?

6. An attack will miss important capabilities
(C-17; F-15;)

7. Pres can believe crazy theory about "regime change" in Iran.

8. Allies oppose idea, but will not oppose the US.

9. Effects on prolif.

B-52s

10. US opponents afraid to "weaken the threat."

11. Need to present forward.

(as in 1973: "axes")

The problem is not that all the nukes
and nuclear fuels are in the US.

OR that ^{no} number of NPT return are enough option.

Am I confident that Iran does not have a hidden nuclear (centrifuge?) program in addition to its open, legal dual-use (centrifuge) program

Brazil?

Germany?

We don't assume / proof from Iran that it has no "intentions" to have option or secret program...

Will Iran withdraw from NPT if —
KEEP INSPECTORS IN — PAY THE PRICE (?)

WHILE "WE"
CHANGE POLICY

Do we know that Iran does not have new weapons? (for Ukraine — Mirzayanov)

or PO, for a "secret source"? NPT 4-29-06
